

Your entrepreneurial personality is that of the Meteoric Entrepreneur

As an entrepreneur falling into this personality type, your business is most certainly centered around one person and his fancies... YOU. You are the focal point of any business you run and it will not be an underestimation to say that you are fiercely ambitious and always thrive on being the top dog in the business. While this is good.....
.....
..... (continued)

Evaluate Yourself

Strengths

As an entrepreneur belonging to this category, your strengths are most of what come with your intrinsic and naturally ambitious personality and can be underlined using three primary attributes of charisma, perseverance and drive. While these are extremely desirable traits to have, the lop side to this is that.....
.....
..... (continued)

Evaluate Yourself

Weaknesses

You attack any task given to you with great zeal and undying, fervent enthusiasm but the problem is that each of these bouts of superlative energy are short lived and highly dependent on your frequent mood swings which can be triggered by any insult to your persona or the image that you have so closely guarded, a recommendation to negate this.....
.....
..... (continued)

Evaluate Yourself

Recommendations

As a meteoric entrepreneur you are already aware of the tremendous capacity and calibre you possess not to mention the immense influence you have over your subordinates and co workers. While this makes you a very popular force with your colleagues, as a recommendation, you should not let all the fame and sycophancy go to your head. If it does, you are in for.....
.....
..... (continued)

Evaluate Yourself